

Campbell Foundation meets for cocktails to fight HIV/AIDS

On February 25, about 100 guests and supporters gathered at the World AIDS Museum in Wilton Manors for The Campbell Foundation's 23rd annual fundraiser and donor appreciation cocktail party. Dr. Alan Landay, professor in the Department of Microbial Pathogens and Immunity and assistant provost for Team Science at Rush University Medical Center in Chicago, was the guest speaker.

Guests, who included many local HIV researchers as well as those who serve the HIV-positive community, enjoyed hors d'oeuvres and drinks. The event raised approximately $10,000, which will go toward the foundation's mission to fund clinical, laboratory-based research into the prevention and treatment of HIV/AIDS.

SUBMITTED PHOTOS/COURTESY

Mel and Dr. Mathias Lichtenheld

Sun Sentinel
Wednesday, April 4, 2018

4 Ken Rapkin, Dr. Alan Landay and Bill Venuti

The Campbell Foundation hosted its 23rd annual fundraiser and donor appreciation party at the World AIDS Museum.

David Ferebee and Karen Porter